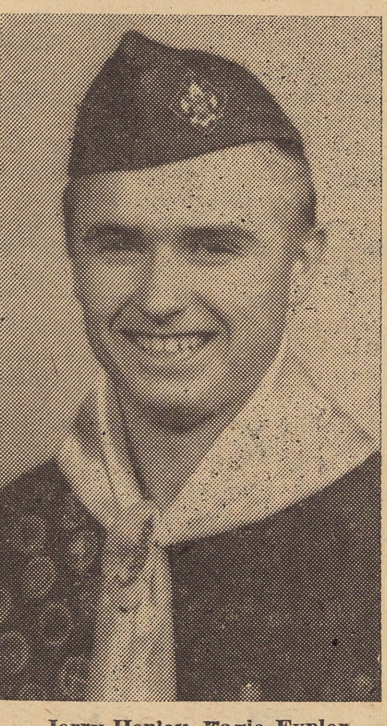
San Jose Annex Move To Take Shop Center

San Jose's expressway annexation which came up before the boundaries commission on June 6 has turned out to be a grab for the Dick's Shopping Center, where San Jose proposes to have a branch postoffice it was learned here yesterday. The site extends fifty feet south from the Southern Pacific railway on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road, three-quarters of a mile from the Campbell city limits, and runs north 1500 feet along San Jose-Los Gatos road, forming a triangle running 2900 feet along the railroad track then 400 feet north and along a twisting course to Fruitvale avenue, then west to Princess Ann Drive and back to the railroad.

Annexation of this, observers note, would be springboard for San Jose to next move south to Hamilton avenue where the Mayfield Shopping Center is starting within the Campbell city limits.

While the proposed annexation has passed the boundaries Commission no date has been set, it is understood, for a hearing. Joseph Bonacina, city attorney for Campbell, contends the state law requires that a city be officially notified when another city proposes to extend boundaries within a mile of its limits, but San Jose city attorneys differ on this point holding that such is but a permissive ruling.

Another annexation set, it is understood for hearing on July 11 is Moreland No. 2-A to include the westerly side of Campbell city limits south to Dutard avenue, westerly along Payne Avenue and up to Moreland School. A portion of this came up before, it is understood under another title but was dropped when too many protests were filed.



Jerry Henley, Eagle Explorer Scout of Campbell Kiwanis Troop 28 who was one of sixteen scouts selected in the entire United States for a month long visit with scouts in Europe and who on June 27 will be flown from Hamilton Field to Germany by United States Air Force where he is to be assigned for scout visitations in two of six countries.

Campbell And San Tomas Aquino

PLANNERS TO STUDY ZONE CHANGE NEW SHOP CENTER

A seven acre section at the northwest corner of West Campbell Avenue and San Tomas Aquino avenue is expected to be proposed this evening as a shopping center when an application of El Rio Development Company is set for hearing for zoning change for R-1 to C-1-S. In original plans for annexation, this seven acre portion was set up for commercial the remainder for residential, but commission citing zoning ordinance No. 43 ruled newly annexed lands are first zoned R-1, and any change in zoning would call for a new hearing.

A letter from City Engineer Mark Thomas is to be read by Homer Hyde, commission secretary, regarding drainage of Unit No. 2 Sunberry Gardens north of the high school in reference to a letter from Camp and Sondene so they may proceed with proposed subdivision. A hearing is to be set for application of Rosilio R. Stroppa for change of zone from R-2 to M-1-S on Harrison Avenue property formerly serving as boiler room and for Hunt Foods, to be converted for office and warehouse for Northern Marble and Tile Company.

A hearing is to be held on the application of Kennth Stringfellow for a use permit to operate a Tune-up-Shop at 10 No. San Jose-Los Gatos Road.

Nestor Barrett, Planning Consultant is to report on proposed changes in the zoning ordinances with respect to area requirements of multiple dwellings.

The tentative map of Rafaelo and Taylor subdivision at Pamlar Avenue and San Jose-Los Gatos road, submitted by Santa Clara County Planning Commission is to be studied.

EDITORIAL

TO THE GRADUATES

Here are a few thoughts for the consideration of the young people who are finishing school and setting out on their life careers:

Seek success on your own merits, not by standing on someone else's shoulders and certainly not on someone else's neck.

Give a day's work for a day's pay and don't hesitate to give a little extra. Make yourself valuable and your income will reflect it.

Don't expect to start at the top any more than you expected to enter the senior class in your first year of school.

Cultivate humility. This is not timidity nor self-depreciation; it is an attitude of receptivity, a recognition of what one has to learn and a willingness to learn it.

Be just as anxious to find out what is right with the world as what is wrong with it.

Learn the value of thrift. Spend less than you earn and save the difference. The ability to handle money wisely often marks the difference between success and failure.

Remember, the world owes you nothing now, but it will owe you its honor and appreciation if you earn it. Far more rewarding to you, however, will be the personal satisfaction and inner strength which comes of a life well lived and a job well done.

IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK

The Campbell sphere of influence will be seriously invaded if annexations proposed by San Jose are culminated. There seems to be no respect for these areas by the steam-rollering tactics of the metropolitan city which is boastful of its extensive annexations.

They are getting close to Hamilton avenue in one of these hop, skip and jump maneuvers. This means that when one annexation is made, it then becomes a springboard to gobble another contiguous area having not more than twelve registered voters.

These proceedings are made without warning, and are buried in publications not adequately reaching the Campbell area.

One of these would extend from south of the railroad crossing on the San Jose-Los Gatos road forming a triangle so as to include the Dick Yee Shopping Center, some 1500 feet along the highway, up to Fruitdale avenue and over to Princess Anne Drive. If this goes through they then can and probably will start plans to annex to Hamilton avenue including the Lloyd property at the northeast corner of Hamilton and San Jose-Los Gatos Road. Also if it goes through, a branch San Jose postoffice will likely be set up in the shopping center.

But if you think this is a serious situation, what about the Moreland Number 2-A annex which is set for hearing July eleventh down Dutard along south side of Payne and over to the Moreland school, bumping us left and right where its hurts.

It might be well for anyone concerned with this situation to be at the Campbell City Council meeting Monday night and protest. It is later than you think. We seem to be small potatoes in the eyes of the cigar-smoking boys from San Jose.

FATHER'S DAY

Father's Day can be synthetic, or it can be sincere. It can be an occasion for the family to go through the motions of honoring dad, or it can be a time when they realize his efforts on their behalf and express their genuine appreciation for them.

A gift for father is always appropriate for the occasion. An expression of affection which comes from the heart is not dependent on some outward symbol to express it. However, like anyone else, dad can enjoy a gift if it is not merely a substitute for appreciation and affection.

Father's Day is a good time for young people to realize that fathers are people, not money-making machines designed to satisfy every whim and desire of teenagers. A little effort to understand the "old man's" point of view may disclose the fact that he really isn't such a bad guy after all.

EDITORS MEET AT STANFORD

The annual midsummer Editor's Conference sponsored by the California Newspaper Publisher's Association will be held at Stanford University next week.

Editors from all over the State will attend this affair, a hard-working-shirt-sleeve meeting at which current professional problems will be thoroughly defined, debated, cussed and discussed.

Newspaper publishing is both a business and a profession. It is also unique among all other businesses in being singled out for mention—and protection—in the Constitution of the United States. Newspaper publishing likewise is not a static business. It is continually undergoing transformation while its purposes remain essentially the same—informing the public and bulwarking the nation's freedom.

In this situation, editors must constantly counsel with each other, exchange ideas, measure competition, check old standards and devise new ones for new conditions in order that newspapers may continue to be effective. In so doing, the editors meet their highest professional responsibilities.

The Campbell Gambol

FACULTY CLUB of Campbell High School put a noose around the neck of the new president Ernie Pope as Chuck Stevens, outgoing president explained that it takes a lot of 'pull' as well as 'push' to be a success in this office . . . teachers are scattering fast, soon as school is out although many will remain at their homes here most of the summertime where a recreation program is likely to be just a little better than most places.

JERRY HENLEY, The 17 year old Eagle Scout from Campbell who was one of two chosen from the west coast for a flight to Europe on an air force plane and the hospitality of the Silva Compass company of Sweden, is not sure which of the six European countries he is to visit . . . plane takes off from Hamilton Field Monday, June 27 and by the time it arrives at New Jersey there will be sixteen Eagle Scouts and two leaders who then will be flown to Germany and separated into three groups, one to visit Sweden and Finland, second to visit Norway and England and the third group to visit Denmark and Holland over a two weeks period, spending four or five days in private homes of scouts of those countries then a week camping and sightseeing with European scouts, then for the last two weeks of July a visit in Stockholm at the plant of the Compass company, enplaning August 3 for New York where they are to be entertained for three or four days before taking off for Hamilton Field and home . . . . this being a reciprocal gesture of world brotherhood in scouting, the European countries arranging an airlift for sixteen of their scouts to the National Training Center at Philmont, New Mexico and a scattering of them to scout homes for a two weeks period similar to the program set up in Europe.

WHILE 342 cap-and-gowned seniors receive diplomas tomorrow in ceremonies on the high school football field, there will be diplomas also for five more senior students who are either overseas in the military service or are unable to attend because of illness . . . this afternoon there will be 376 eighth grade students of Campbell Grammar school receiving diplomas is services on the High School Athletic Field while this evening in the Campbell High School auditorium diplomas will be handed out to 116 eighth grade students from Cambrian school, most of wnom will enter the new Camden High School in September . . . also tonight Saratoga Elementary school will hand out diplomas to 76 eighth grade students.

WORLD RECORD For the model plane endurance flight remain with the two New Jersey boys, but Bob Herman and Bob Hoffman of Campbell are just as determined they will set a new record . . . . they were up before daylight Saturday to make the flight, had signs and banners ready to announce the marathon was under way, but found the feedline rigging too heavy for the plane to take off in a strong wind so after some six hours of trying to keep the plane up, the flight here was given up for repairs. . . the boys seem to understand the problem and will have another go at it in July, seeking to fly their plane eleven or more hours for a new record by using a plactic fuel tube and having every detail worked out ahead of time.

Citizen's Council Stays In Effect On Standby Basis

Citizens Advisory Council of Campbell Elementary School District, by vote of its members, will remain a permanent organization of the district, its members have voted.

An officer panel headed by Tom Mansfield, president for the past year, will continue to serve for the coming year to keep the unit in operating force. Members will be made up of school parent organization presidents where these units have not elected regular representatives to the Council.

The Council was formed to assist the district administration and trustees when called upon to do so. It was felt a responsible panel of parents representing each school area of the district could be a powerful influence to assure an educational program for children directly reflecting desires of all parents.

In operation the Council has made all its meetings public and has invited any person interested in the schools and their problems to attend and take part in the work being carried on.

Contemplated is a survey of school district parents next school year. It would follow National for such a survey, adapted to local Citizen's Advisory Council outlines needs, Mansfield said. Mansfield said any parent may appear before the Council to present suggestions or criticisms relating to school affairs.

In the past, the Council has been made up of one man and one woman elected from units at each school, one teacher from each school, one teacher from each school, two trustees and the superintendent of schools, who sit in an advisory capacity.

Hold Up Bar Here

A pair of masked bandits held up Murray's Club at 1139 San Jose-Los Gatos Road Thursday morning near closing time and got $339 from the bar and $43 from wallets of two customers and the barman, Malcolm Martin. Customers robbed were Paul Reed and William Adams. The bartender said the bandits took the money from the till and cash drawer.

Home Delivery Is Set For Saratoga

Postmaster George Whalen of Saratoga reported today that the downtown business area and immediate area is to be served with foot carrier delivery starting July 1 with some 309 stops of which 76 are businesses.

Whalen stated, "in this service, it is planned that the carrier first serve the business district, then serve the rest of the route. Upon the carrier's return to the office, he will make a parcel post run over the entire route."

Whalen also said transfer to home delivery of many post office box holders will release these boxes for other residents. At present, there is a waiting list of eight for these boxes.

Dam Sites Authorized

The State Assembly yesterday passed 58 to 10 a bill granting three and a half million dollars for site aquisitions for the proposed Feather River dam near Oroville and for the San Luis reservoir.

The Senate last Saturday rejected a similar bill by one vote. Assemblyman Bruce Allen voted for the bill yesterday but Assemblyman Clark Bradley voted against it on a contention the amount was insufficient without federal aid. The measure would not rule out possible federal aid, as contemplated for San Luis project.

Adolph Sutro helped the first San Francisco Arbor Day in 1886 by donating thousands of trees and encouraging school children to plant them in public places.

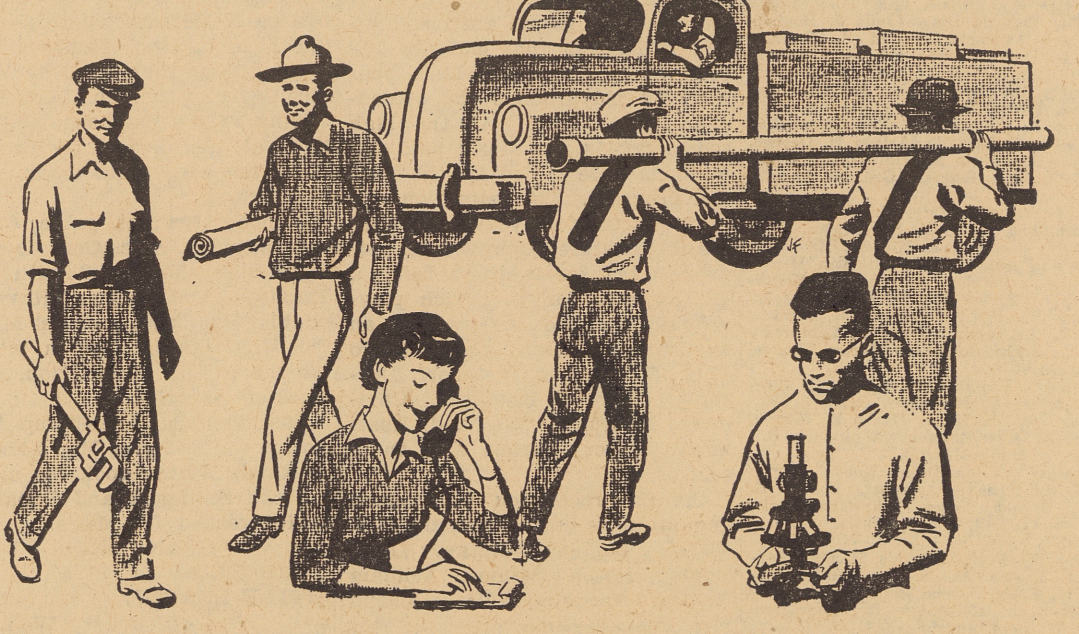
What It Takes To Supply Your Home With Water Every Day

By: Charles B. Parbury, Vice President and General Manager



For some months in this column I have been telling you about a few of the elements involved in supplying your home with water every day . . . the piles of pipe, the millions of gallons of storage, the miles traversed by service vehicles, etc.

But the most vital factor in the complicated business of providing dependable water service are the people who make up the well-trained and experienced staff of San Jose Water Works.

If our company merits the praise it receives for the high quality of its service, the credit must be shared by our 120 employees whose work "behind the faucet" makes this service possible.

From time to time in these monthly messages, I want to tell you about some of our staff members who are making unusual contributions to good water service in your community. This month I want to talk about our Chief Engineer, Nat Kendall.

One of his first assignments when he became our Chief Engineer in 1947 was supervising the construction of our Austrian Dam which created Lake Elsman, with its two billion gallons storage capacity.

Kendall was born in San Mateo and graduated from Stanford in 1932. After two years graduate work in Stanford Engineering School, he worked for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation on the construction of Hoover Dam.

Today Nat has one whole department engaged in planning and designing water systems for new subdivisions. When you turn on the faucet in your new home, just remember that Nat Kendall and his staff played an important part in providing this service.

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission has let contracts which will bring about modernization of the city's cable street railway.

Eaton and Smith will build a cable car terminus at California Street and Van Ness Avenue for $18,400. The new terminus will enable the Municipal Railway to remove cables which still operate between Van Ness and Presidio Avenue. Dover To Have Double Sessions Next September

There was "Mountain Music" in the air Monday night when the Dover Home and School Club held its last meeting of the season, with Tom Mansfield newly elected president, presiding over the largest attendance of the year. Some twenty parents, arriving a few minutes late, had to be content to look through the open door and watch their "pride and joys" perform.

Members of Den No. 3, Pack 76, led the salute to the flag and Mrs. Brewster's two kindergarten classes put everyone in the "mountain mood" with their version of Davy Crockett led by little Tommy Shaffer wearing his coon-skin cap. Mrs. Crockett's third grade class followed with a clever mountain ballad which they sang and danced, with girls and boys dressed as mountain men and bears.

Duane Beaubien, principal, outlined the school program for September and told parents that all classes will be on double session except the sixth grade, and kindergarten will have triple sessions. This condition, he stressed, should be alleviated the following year because the new addition to Dover School will start in ten days. The new addition should be finished in December and will consist of eight classrooms plus a multi-service room and kitchen. He further stated that on his recent visit to Sacramento he learned Dover School received first priority for the bond money.

Ken Robison, director of recreation for the Campbell School District, discussed the summer program which includes plans for swimming, music and field trips. Beaubien will be in charge of this and the summer school which will be in session from 9 to 12 a. m., Monday through Friday for six weeks. Children will be able to come and go as they please and notices of field trips and special events will be sent home to the parents. More information may be had by phoning Dover School.

HENLEYS TO ATTEND KIWANIS CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

Leaving Monday from San Francisco on a special Kiwanis International Train, will be Mr. and Mrs. William Henley of Campbell who are to attend the Kiwanis convention at Cleveland, Mr. Henley being the Lt.-governor of Division 12, Kiwanis.

The special train goes north to Bonneville Dam, Multnomah Falls, Glacier Park, Chicago, Toronto, Niagara Falls, then Cleveland, arriving June 26 for the session which continues through June 30. The party of about 300 on the train will visit International headquarters in Chicago, and will stop at Casa Loma Hotel in Toronto.

Following the convention Mr. and Mrs. Henley will visit relatives at Mattoon, Illinois, then follow the southern route by train back to Campbell, stopping enroute at New Orleans and at Dallas where at the latter place they will visit their daughter Mrs. William Sharp and family.

In the meantime, their son, Jerry, 17, will enplane at Hamilton Field for New Jersey from which place he will be flown to Germany as one of 16 Eagle Scouts on a month's visit as guest of Silva Compass Company of Stockholm and United States Air Force.

R. B. Edwards To Celebrate Golden Wedding Sunday

Sunday will be an auspicious day i nthe lives of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Edwards of 744 E. Campbell Avenue. On that day they will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary, Mr. Edwards birthday, and Father's Day, all at the same time.

The celebration really begins Saturday night when the Edwards, their six children and their families, gather at Hawaiian Gardens for a party. Honoring their parents will be Wade, Kenneth, David, Richard, Janice, and Olive; seventeen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

On Sunday the Edwards will hold a reception at home for their friends and relatives between the hours 2 to 6 p. m. Local people are asked to call from 2 to 3:30 p. m., and out of town guests from 3:30 to 6:00 so that they can have a chance to chat with all visitors.

The Edwards were married June 20, 1905 in Excelsior Springs, Missouri, after a brief courtship which began when they met at Mr. Edwards sister's wedding. He says it was love at first sight and she befuddled him so that he didn't know what he was doing half the time, like forgetting to pay for their dinners when they went out together. She agrees he was befuddled and added that she has kept him that way and their life has never been boring.

When asked their recipe for a long and happy life, Mr. Edwards said he thought love was the most necessary ingredient. Mrs. Edwards believes tolerance and a good sense of humor should also be added, and thinks that if a couple can laugh together over their troubles and mistakes they can weather any storm.

The Edwards lived in Kansas City until 1924 when they decided to move to California with their five children; the sixth was born after their arrival. They made the trip in an ancient Ford loaded with household articles, camping out all the way. A few years later they returned to Missouri on a vacation trip in a fancy new convertible and pulling one of those new fangled contraptions, a huge trailer.

During the intervening years the Edwards had established coffee shops in Oakland and the venture had proved to be very successful. In 1948 they decided to retire and move to the place they liked best, Campbell.

Here, in their East Campbell Avenue home, they have been able to follow their hobbies of gardening and antique collecting, and be actively interested in church and community affairs.

Music Program Starts July 5

"Music for Fun" is to be the theme of the six-week summer program scheduled for residents of Campbell High School district beginning Tuesday, July 5 at the high school.

The program offers classes in all standard band and orchestra instruments. Students also learn rhythm through drum classes and may participate in bands and orchestras.

Accordion and piano lessons will not be offered this year.

Fee for the six-week period, July 5-August 12, is $15. Students attend mornings only and may work in swimming classes. They have free bus transportation from points near their homes to Campbell High School for the classes.

The fee covers tuition, books, and drumsticks. For beginners only the free use of an instrument is furnished.

Students from Cambrian, Union, Moreland, San Tomas, Burbank, and Campbell are eligible.

Registration is being handled only at the high school, and parents are asked to consult the child's elementary school music teacher before enrolling youngsters for the summer program. Some instruments and the concentrated program are occasionally too much for young pupils. A $5 deposit holds a place in the music classes.

Church Women Set Bazaar

Mrs. Richard Morton presided over last week's luncheon meeting of the Women's Federation of the Congregational Church when the seven Guild groups comprising the organization voted unanimously to hold a bazaar this fall and set the date for November 18.

Emphasis was placed upon the rummage sale scheduled for July 21, 22, and 23 at 124 N. Market Street, San Jose. All rummage may be taken to the depot next door to the church.

LOOTERS BUSY IN CAMPBELL

Police report a minor crime wave struck Campbell last weekend when four residents reported their cars and garages had been looted and contents strewn around. Chief Robert Locke asks that his department be notified regardless of how minor the incident so that police can give better service to the public by keeping a check on these areas.

L. C. Fairchild of 161 2nd Street told police sometime Saturday night his garage and storeroom was entered and contents strewn on the floor but nothing was taken. His next door neighbor at 151 N. 2nd made a simialr report; both say it has happened several times before.

Gail Exline of 96 N. First reported his car parked on the street was broken into and a railroad lantern taken.

Carl B. Field, 99 N. 2nd Street, reported his garage had been entered and car and pickup truck looted with contents of the glove compartments thrown around. Nothing of value was taken although items of value were accessible.

Friday police found a transient, George Shrader, staggering down Campbell Avenue and warned him to leave town. Later the same day they found him lying along side the fence at the Campbell Water Company yard on Railroad Avenue and promptly carted him to the county jail where he was booked.

An unditified woman notified police Friday her purse had been taken from her parked car while she made a quick trip into a local merchant's store.

Facilities for swimming, fishing, and boating are provided by San Francisco's Aquatic Park.

Summer Course In Art At Montalvo

Three of the classes held at Villa Montalvo, Saratoga, are holding their annual exhibitions this month and one of them, the Ceramics class of Dr. Herbert Sanders, will run through July 15.

The oil painting class of George Harris, Palo Alto, represents many forms of expression—realism, impressionism, cubism, expressionism, and abstraction. The emphasis is on individual expression, although a thorough knowledge of fundamentals of painting has been a necessary requisite.

The students of Preston Prescott, Ben Lomond, are showing their works in sculpture. Of his teaching methods, Prescott defines 3 distinct approaches. 1. Creative sculpture composition which stresses class and teacher criticism to bring out values of principles of good art. 2. Portrait sculpture that is the most concentrated way to teach a definite way of working in mechanics and as a positive technical approach. The appreciation of life and nature are used as a background reference material. 3. Academic figure study from life models challenges the student to objectify a definite object which gives confidence in the control of form.

INK STAINS

By HELEN McLEOD

THERE WERE OVER A HUNDRED midget circus performers at Moreland last Friday, during the school's play day. Both Mrs. Bertha Hoagland and Mrs. Kay Gum sent notes to their kindergartners' parents that the children should wear costumes that day, with the circus and cowboy theme in mind. I was there when the busses unloaded clowns, cowboys, strong men, and some of the children brought along costumes to don at school. Some children didn't have anything, and I wished that parents could have seen the expressions on the faces of the unprepared ones, when they walked into those kindergarten rooms and saw several score of their school mates all decked out. We adults pounced on them and started to suit them into extra outfits some parents had sent along, and into odds and ends the teachers had on hand. I made two tiny Japanese boys into Mexican cowboys by an addition of a blanket over the shoulder and a large straw hat. A cute little red-headed boy was very hard to please. When he arrived, without costume, we were down to practically no spares by then, and had little to offer. I wanted to make him a clown. "I want to be a cowboy," was his sober statement. I had a huge pair of cowboy boots and an odd hat.—In that icky manner adults use when they want to put something over on a child, I urged him to be a funny cowboy. "I want to be a good looking cowboy," was his unamused reaction. I had some cow-girl clothing for him. "I want to be a boy cow-boy, was his flat refusal. Mrs. Gum brought him a large parachute and metal hat, both of which he had already rejected from me— probably because I'd told him he would look SO funny in them. Mrs. Gum assured him he would be a very handsome, well-dressed, authentic and fierce Marine parachuter in this costume, which he then donned readily. As he trudged along later in the parade, his out-sized parachute hitting against his ankles, I had a glimpse of his face, as much as could be seen under the huge bobbing, slipping hat, and he looked contented. He knew he was correctly dressed as a parachuter, and was not FUNNY.

BARBARA WALTON, on Paseo Cerro, became a teen-ager the other day, and initiated her new near-adult status with a boy-girl party in her back yard. Gil and Abbie Walton, her parents, fixed up Chinese lanterns, wonderful food barbecue style. The littler Waltons Butch, Stevie, Tody,Rosemarie—could not enter into the festivities, except as window-watchers. Baby Abbie, junioress, is, of course, still confined to her crib and playpen. Here is a list of guests, as compiled by hostess Barbara (the spelling of the names are hers, rightly or wrongly): Sherry MacAfee, Randi Randolph, Lynette Rodriguez, Gail Murphy, Denise Pierini, Judy Force, Mary Puma, Marleen Stamphor, John and Guy Puma, Johnny Fantillo,, Terry Smith, Jim Costello, Jim Bothwell, Andy Ballantyne, David MacDaniels, and Julie Malzohn.

NEWCOMERS IN WESTBROOK that I've come across, although they've been here almost a year, are the Rudy Stamphers, with two children, Marleen, 12½, 7th grade at Moreland, and Jimmy in kindergarten. Mr. Stampher owns Rudy's Appliance Service, and the family is from S. F.

THE SISITER OF MRS. GEORGE ELLIOTT visited this Quito family recently. She is Mrs. L. W. Winter of L. A. Mr. Elliott operates a meat market.

DEP'T OF EXCUSE ITS: While I was talking to Mrs. Gordon Creider a few weeks ago, she had just finished telling me that the Creiders were from Pennsylvania, when our phone was disconnected. I became too busy to call back, so I printed that statement. She called me the other day to say that the family originated in that state, but that actually her husband is from Iowa and attended Drake U in Des Moines, her brother-in-law, Chester A. Creider, is from Illinois, and her father-in-law from Missouri.

NAVY CHIEF C.E. JANSEN has returned from Wash., D. C. where he attended school for a year and is back in Quito with his family. Jansen spent three years recruiting in the San Jose area. There are three children: Janet, 9; Mark, 6; and Eric, 4.

THELMA TIMMONS is recuperating in her Dundee avenue home after an operation at Dr.'s Hospital. Her husband, LeRoy, is now retired from the Navy.

CASWELL NEAL reports that his wife, Beth, is getting along nicely and may now have visitors at her room in San Jose Hospital. Beth had an accident in her home a few weeks ago, and is getting Military Order of the Purple Heart, Unknown Soldier Chapter No. 42 a couple of months old.

MARTY BERG, son of the Richard Berg's in Quito, had a number of little friends over the other day to help him celebrate his fifth birthday.

FRANCES ANN DOMBOSKI, two year old Quito Park girl, came out first in her age group in the San Jose Baby Festival, it was announced Sunday night. In addition, Frances Ann was named supreme earl's lady, in the all-ages category, in this annual event conducted by anxious to return to her three children, one of which, Nancy, is just of San Jose. The Domboeski's live on Paseo Presado.
